Information for
IRS Chief Counsel Attorneys

United States Tax Court
Washington, D.C.
January 2014

eFiling

The procedures for eFiling by persons admitted to practice before the Tax Court (practitioners) who represent petitioners and by IRS attorneys are substantially similar. For example, all practitioners must register for Practitioner Access, accept the Terms of Use, and consent to receive eService.* All practitioners who eFile must include their name, mailing address, Tax Court bar number, telephone number, and email address on each eFiled document, verify that the document is in PDF or TIFF format and is legible, and state on the first page that the document was filed electronically. Practitioner should read “Practitioners’ Guide to Electronic Case Access and Filing” (available on the Court’s Web site) before eFiling. The eFiling procedures for IRS attorneys differ only with respect to the addition to and removal of IRS attorneys from cases.

Gaining eAccess to Documents Filed in a Particular Case

Currently, the Court recognizes as counsel and places on the docket record in a case the name of a practitioner who signed and filed the first pleading (the petition by petitioner’s counsel and the answer or other responsive document by IRS counsel). Counsel for petitioner also may be added to the docket record as a result of filing an entry of appearance and is removed when a motion to withdraw is granted. Petitioner’s counsel cannot gain remote electronic access to petitioner’s records without entering an appearance, and access is lost when a motion to withdraw is granted.

IRS attorneys do not enter appearances or file motions to withdraw. However, the Court requires the IRS to provide the names of IRS attorneys assigned to cases and to notify the Court when an IRS attorney leaves the IRS. All IRS attorneys who sign a document that is eFiled subsequent to the first responsive pleading in a case must have eAccess to that case, i.e., they must have signed the initial pleading (and been placed on the docket record by the Court or by the attorney who eFiled the pleading) or have been added by the IRS (by using the Case Respondent Practitioner screen in Practitioner Access, discussed below) to that case. Only registered users on the Respondent Practitioner list may have eAccess to and eFile in a case. The Court’s Admissions Section reviews and processes IRS requests to remove an attorney from all cases when the attorney is no longer employed by the IRS.

Practitioner Access--Adding an Additional IRS Attorney to a Case

The Court placed on the docket record as counsel for respondent up to five IRS attorneys who signed and included their valid Tax Court bar number on the first responsive pleading in a case filed on or before January 17, 2014. Beginning January 21, 2014, the IRS attorney who eFiles the first responsive pleading may add additional attorneys who have signed the document during the eFiling process. See instructions for eFiling the first responsive pleading on page 3. Subsequently, each IRS attorney in a case may add additional IRS attorneys who have registered for Practitioner Access. See instructions for adding attorneys on page 12.

*IRS attorneys do not individually consent to eService. The IRS National Office officially consents for all IRS attorneys.

Each registered party may electronically view each document in a case through the Case Index three times through eAccess. All attorneys representing the IRS share three views of each document in a case. Documents viewed by clicking the “View” hyperlink on the “My Service” page do not count toward the three-view limit. This is a free courtesy service view. After a party has viewed a document three times through the Case Index in eAccess, the document is no longer accessible to that party through eAccess. A document may be saved or printed, however, each time it is viewed through eAccess. Documents available to the public through Docket Inquiry or Opinions Search, i.e., opinions, orders, decisions, and docket records, may be viewed an unlimited number of times.

eFiling the first responsive pleading

If no other IRS attorney has eFiled in a case, an IRS practitioners may gain eAccess to a case by eFiling the first responsive pleading, such as an answer or a motion to dismiss through Practitioner Access. The practitioner would eFile subsequent documents using the instructions on page 44 of “Practitioners’ Guide to Electronic Case Access and Filing”.

Practitioner Access--Removing an IRS Attorney From One Case

The IRS should remove its attorneys from cases in which they are no longer active to limit their access to petitioner information and so the petitioner knows which IRS attorney to contact about his or her case. Each IRS attorney listed in a case may remove another IRS attorney or himself or herself. If the last attorney assigned to a case is removed, the Court will automatically assign an IRS National Office attorney (as a default) to the case. That attorney’s name and mailing address will appear on the docket record so that petitioners may contact him or her about their case until the IRS National Office attorney adds another attorney. The IRS National Office will notify the Court of the name and Tax Court bar number of the default National Office attorney. The IRS National Office attorney must be registered for Practitioner Access. An attorney removed from a case will no longer be listed on the docket sheet as counsel for respondent.

- Log on to Practitioner Access.

Practitioner Access--Removing an IRS Attorney From All Cases

The IRS should remove attorneys no longer employed with the Office of Chief Counsel from his or her cases. Upon leaving the IRS, an attorney must notify the Court of his or her new mailing address, email address, and telephone number as required by Rule 200 and the eAccess Terms of Use.

The Court automatically assigns the default IRS National Office attorney to cases in which the attorney removed was the last remaining counsel for respondent in the case.

1. To remove an IRS attorney from all cases, click “Remove Respondent” near the top of the screen.
